The War Today...

THE RED ARMY'S continued devastating stabs into the very vitals of the German front—the cumulative effects of which threaten to tear the Hitlerite line loose from its anchors and force it into dangerous retreat once more—provide an important and significant setting for the Moscow conference of the foreign ministers of Russia, America and Britain which is due to assemble at any moment now.

The Muscovites have let it be known in blunt terms that the initial item on the agenda isn't to be political but is military. They insist that first there must be agreement about the business of winning the war, which includes the "second front" that the Soviet long has demanded.

This has the formidable backing of the situation which the Red offensive is creating. It enables the Soviet to reiterate the theme that the time for the Allies to slam Hitler with everything they have is when he's rocking on his heels.

In advancing arguments to substantiate this stand Moscow can even call on the authoritative German periodical, Das Schwarze Korps, which is published by Gestapo Chief Himmler. This paper dares tell the people of the Reich that the Nazi retreat in Russia has resulted in "a tremendous loss of political prestige for Germany...a loss which now troubles many of us."

Some would say that pure coincidence accounts for the unprecedented Red drive through the autumn deluge and deep mud (theoretically an almost impossible feat) just as the representatives of the Big Three are due to begin their delicate task. Be that as it may, we can at least agree that the Russians may well consider they have dealt themselves a most useful hand.

HOWEVER, the Allies also have new and striking successes, which are huge contributions to the united war effort, to lay on the table. These include Italy's declaration of war against her former German ally, Portugal's grant of an invaluable base in the Azores, the steady northward grind of American and British armies on the Italian peninsula, and the crippling of Hitler's industrial war effort by the fiercest aerial bombardment the war has produced.

Since all these things seem bound to enter the debate at an early stage, it's good to know that the conference is in the hands of three such experienced diplomats as Cornell Hall, Anthony Eden and Vyacheslav Molotov. We are encouraged to believe, also, that there is a real desire on the part of all the Big Three to reach an understanding.

Fresh indication of this is seen in the agreement to accept Marshal Badoglio's government, on the basis that after the war the Ital-

Father of Six Rejected Upon Army Examination

COLUMBUS, Oct. 15—Amos E. Hollenback, war plant worker and father of six who was ordered inducted by his Circleville draft board, has been rejected by the Army, it was disclosed today.

Officials at an induction station here gave no reason. Hollenback lives at Ashville and is 34 years old. He reported for the Army yesterday.

Express Displeasure Over Granting British Bases In Azores

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—A surprise-bomber—dwarfing the Liberators and the Flying Forts with its giant bomb load and destructive might—is on its way to enemy lands.

Some have been delivered to the Army although full production and participation in combat is not expected until next year. But belief was expressed by officials today that when the new planes fly into battle, the prediction of World War Ace Eddie Rickenbacker will be borne out that "no nation could survive the pounding a fleet of these planes can deliver."

The mystery plane is known as the B-29, with a greater bomb-carrying capacity, range and fighting power than any existing bomber.

Bern then reiterated its contention that the Lisbon government had been forced into concession under pressure—a theme the Germans have harped upon since the Anglo-Portuguese agreement was first announced.

Germany left unstated, however, whether she would go so far as to declare war on the Portuguese.

In announcing the protest, the Berlin radio called Portugal's act a "severe violation of neutrality."

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Army Air Forces commander, has observed—

—Apparently with the new B-29 in mind—that the Liberators and Flying Fortresses were the "last of the small bombers."

Charles E. Wilson, War Production board executive vice chairman, said production of the new bombers, which are designed for use over Europe, will not mean tapering off of the big planes now being used.

Wilson said that production of bombers, exclusive of the new super-planes, will have increased eight times next April over last April's figures.

Delays in bringing the new planes into combat presumably are due to the time required to attain full-scale production, to train crews and to eliminate the "bugs" which may crop up in the early models.

Apparently the Japanese failed to remember that they now are the Portuguese island of Tenerife the British occupied Magas-

DUTY RECOMMENDED FOR BOARD POST

LISBON, Oct. 15—Recommendation of the appointment of M. K. Dury, former sheriff, as a member of the Columbian county board of elections was made at a meeting of the Columbian county Democratic executive committee in the Waukegan last night.

Dury would succeed the late Atty. W. O. Wallace on the board. Two Salem men considered for the post were Austin I. Getz and George McArthur, the former sheriff, appointed after the resignation of Raymond.

Raymond is pastor of the Newman Baptist church near Massillon. He will carry on the pastoral duties of the Salem church in addition to conducting its services, which are being held during redecoration of the church building, in the Memorial building, Merle C. Miller, chairman of the board of deacons, announced.

THE COAT MUST FIT THE CLOTH

The official forecast on gasoline issued by OWI is for less fuel and a decrease in quality. Military demands so far have been met and will continue to be met, but as they increase, civilian requirements will have to be curtailed as much or more than they are being curtailed now. The coat must be cut to fit the cloth.

This official explanation for the latest move to reduce civilian consumption of gasoline is a proper function of OWI, which is charged with the duty of keeping the public informed about the war. It is singularly free of sugar-coating. The United States, like every other country engaged in this war of motor-driven weapons, cannot burn up its fuel and have it too.

There will continue to be doubts expressed of the wisdom and necessity of national motor fuel policy, and single instances will be cited by critics to prove that the policy is not working, or is inequitable. But these will not alter the fundamental fact that the United States is committed to a war which is using vast quantities of gasoline and other petroleum products and that the military demand cannot be met without drastic curtailment of civilian use. It is not a matter of being able to satisfy all the demand founded on necessity—all demand is necessary from the viewpoint of the demanders—but a matter of being able to satisfy military requirements first and allocating what is left over to civilians.

It is to be hoped that OWI may issue further reports in the future as the problem grows worse to offset public demand for information. Insofar as gasoline rationing has been complicated by public failure to cooperate, the failure must be blamed on lack of understanding, not on any lack of sympathy with the government's obligation to meet military requirements.

ITALY'S WAR AGAINST GERMANY

Exactly what is going to be gained by the Badoglio government's declaration of war against Germany, other than the embarrassment of Mussolini in his role of Hitler puppet, is hard to determine. Perhaps that is justification enough for the move. But if Italians at home and abroad are puzzled, no one will blame them.

Certainly it cannot be expected that Italy, which did not fight well on Germany's side when everything was in its favor, is going to fight well for the Allies against Germany. The Italian army is scattered and demoralized after its years of disappointment and humiliation. Soldiers who found it impossible to look forward to dying for Germany with relish will find no stronger reason to die for the British, the Americans, or the Russians, their new allies. The time is long past when an Italian can be expected to approach the obligations of war with anything but an overwhelming distaste for the whole proceedings. Whatever may be left of the trace of crusader that is found in most men probably is being dedicated by decent Italians to a lifelong crusade of minding their own business; the gangster element will be eliminated with the Germans.

It would be gratifying to think of Italians fighting shoulder to shoulder with Anglo-American troops against Germans, their common enemy, but it probably wouldn't be very close to the truth. However, in view of the fact that many Italians are trying to be very close to the truth. However, in view of the fact that many Italians are trying to be helpful and do hate the Germans, their new status of co-belligerency and the guarantee of self-determination after the war that apparently goes with it in official announcements is much closer to propriety than that of a defeated people completely knocked out of the war.

SHAME ON BROTHER CHURCHILL

American admiration for Winston Churchill as a statesman who is doing his job to the best of his extremely great ability is one of the substantial ties between the United States and Great Britain. This makes our astonishment over his humorous jibes in the house of commons at the five senators who have been asking pointed questions recently the greater.

Mr. Churchill, one of the world's best informed and most widely traveled men, should know there is nothing out of the ordinary about senators asking questions. In his country, pointed questions led to a change of governments after Munich and only recently produced a reshuffling of officials in his own administration. It is not, as he suggests, a case of politicians fighting each other, but a case of legislators expressing themselves on matters of general interest. As one commentator suggests, the five senators had been too close to death to have much partisanship left when they came home.

His admirers as one of the great statesmen of the times might have expected Mr. Churchill to praise the five United States senators for doing what their constituents expect them to do. He is a man who never has flinched in the presence of facts, one of which is the rising demand in the United States for more collaboration among the United Nations and less acquiescence. But then perhaps Mr. Churchill was misquoted and did not mean to disparage the activities of the five inquisitive senators. The disparagement does not fit his reputation for political sagacity.

It is time for working with persistent and well systematized efforts for attaining the goal of important ambitions. To this the exercise of "policy," finesse and a subtle kind of cleverness or astuteness would greatly accelerate desired culminations. Deal with influential personages or corporate bodies for easiest progress. Happiness may also obtain.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured a progressive, prosperous and pleasant year, with all the affairs advancing upon the goal of the highest and happiest objectives. There may be certain undercurrents of influence, mystery or subtlety hard to put the finger on in such fulfillment. But hard work, diligence and practical sagacity, tact, finesse and keen insight or understanding in dealing with important persons or institutions. The romantic life may also enjoy exceptional happiness.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Congress cracked the whip on an economy drive today and the campaign galloped along in several directions.

Senator Butler (R-Neb.) invited to appear before the Senate appropriations committee as it met to consider his resolution calling for a probe of Lend-Lease, termed the war-aid set-up the "most colossal dole of all time."

Orange groves, so you mustn't think if your boy is in Africa he is cut on a sand-swept desert.

My friend has treated two cases of typhus fever. I have never seen a case of that ancient malady which was probably the cause of the plague of Athens and which under the name of ship fever and jail fever followed the advance of civilization for thousands of years.

We seldom see it now in North America because we are on the side of a cleanly people and it is spread mostly by lice, with the rat as a reservoir. The American army has been entirely free from it however, because we use vaccination against it on all the troops.

The only cases seen at this hospital were two—one in a soldier who had evaded vaccination some way, and the other in an officer of a merchant marine vessel.

The British did not use vaccination at first, and lost many men in Africa until they woke up and began universal vaccination. The Arabs suffer from it terribly. In a village near the hospital one family was completely wiped out.

Exposure to the disease is unavoidable for the American troops. The Arabs are all covered with lice and it is necessary to shake hands with them, if you want to get anything out of them like a little extra food, etc.

Another condition that few American physicians have been familiar with and which is common in Africa is malaria. The American troops stay protected by taking atabrine—four tablets weekly. Whenever a man leaves off his atabrine for a week, he comes down with a chill. My doctor friend takes his atabrine faithfully and said he would have a blood examination made but he is afraid to look at it.

The sulfa drugs continue to produce miracles. This I hear also from doctors in American camps. There were no deaths in the African hospital in over 300 cases of pneumonia. That is indeed miraculous.

Bacillary dysentery also yields promptly. There is a tremendous reduction of bone and tissue infections from ordnance action.

Ulcer of the Stomach

A curious feature is that so many soldiers come down with ulcer of the stomach—2 per cent of all admissions to the hospital. It does seem to prove what many doctors have claimed for a long time—that ulcer of the stomach comes from emotional reactions. It is easy to

SYNOPSIS

Hilda Glenn is relating the weird mimic of a reign of terror that is now Havenhurst-on-Sound in ring headlines. Hilda, author of the radio serial, "Love's Wages," is returned to her old family home, Glennacres, at Havenhurst, is confronted with what calls "the murder" of a red-settee.

Hilda and her neighbors—Everard, a male menace and old-be playwright; his wife, Nancy, and the latter's former state Attorney . . . are dining in the Everard home when Comodore Henry Knowlton, elderly and pompous, calls. He says his wife, Aunt Flo, "thought she "saw ghost." Hilda had known the ancy Comodore since childhood. Some blamed him for the accidental death of her parents years before. He was Pete's sole and guardian. He carried a cane, gold knobbed walking stick which he brandished during a clash with Pete over mention of drowning of his grandson, Henry Rufus, years ago. Hilda assumes all that she did see a dying setter that day. Suddenly a voice from without declares: "You can't lay a ghost with a blow of a cane, Henry." . . . And the Comodore's aged wife "floated through the door" seemingly in a haze. The Comodore staged an ugly scene when his wife urged that he must produce Pete's play, after Pete had a brief clash with the Everards' Japanese houseboy . . . The next day, Mrs. Higgins, Hilda's housekeeper, warns that "this place is haunted" and alleges "Hank" Knowlton had killed himself. "He had such fun out life—More than he could pay for." Mrs. Higgins tells her for the Knowltons and says Mrs. K. is "stark crazy," and warns Hilda to be on her guard. Pam Drury, star of "Love's Wages," and Greg Marley, radio executive, arrive in the Everard's new sport model. Pete, Nancy, and their children, Dot and Dicky, join the others at Glennacres. Pam, Greg, Pete and Nancy are about Havenhurst, looking for a house for Pam. Aunt Carrie is talking with Hilda who is much upset by Greg's obvious interest in the "black velvet" magic that is

Hilda. "The thing to do is not want what she does."

The wisdom of the ages spoke there. But I had always loved Greg. I couldn't stop on order.

"I hate her!" I said. "It hurts to hate. I never hated anybody before."

Pam and that smooth black-velvet magic of hers!"

Aunt Carrie called me to order crisply. "If I were you, I wouldn't forget that Miss Pam's black-velvet voice is what keeps your show on the air—"

Higgins arrived, unsummoned, with fresh coffee.

"Didn't you hear the car drive away?" I asked briskly.

Higgins' rebuke was perfect.

"One hears from the kitchen, Miss Glenn, if one may inquire, who have been another car arriving."

I inquired about his ankle then.

"My ankle?" he asked blankly.

"I thought you wrench it."

"Oh yes, gave me quite a turn, as Mrs. Higgins would say."

He began clearing off the soiled dishes and then asked suddenly: "Miss Glenn, if I may inquire, who is the very beautiful young person who dropped in a while back? I almost thought I knew her."

Aunt Carrie laughed. "That's Miss Pam Drury. I'm expecting Mr. Marley to bring her back here to supper. She's the star of Miss Hilda's show. You've probably heard Miss Drury on the air, time and again."

"Miss Pam Drury?" Higgins hesitated. "No, madam. I seldom listen to the radio. It interferes with my work."

Then he went back to the kitchen. The Everard car returned at six.

Pam was triumphant. Nancy wasn't. Her client had passed up all the important properties over at Hammonds' Harbor, which is now a much more popular beach than our little cove, and had chosen a house at the end of Cliffside Lane. It was a summer place called Beach Cottage and was so small and unpretentious that nobody had rented it for several seasons.

Obviously Nancy had hoped Pam would select a big estate on which the fee for a furnished rental would be much greater than the Cliffside Cottage would bring.

"Don't you want me to submit an offer on the Denton house at Hammonds' Harbor?" Nancy urged. "They'd probably come down a bit."

I like the Beach Cottage," Pam said. "It's near you and the Glenns. I like knowing my neighbors."

There wasn't any answer to that.

"Of course you're all staying to supper, neighbors!" Aunt Carrie said with the smile that's impish in spite of her impending seventieth birthday.

"Love to," Greg replied promptly. "It's so much cozier here than at the Club."

Aunt Carrie gave me a confidential and triumphant wink.

Nancy said she'd have to go home first to look after the twins. "Why don't you run over with me, Greg?" she asked.

"Do you think the brats are asleep?" He laughed when he said it but he did not sound as if he were joking.

"I'm going home to see if the Bevans girl, who takes care of them when I'm out, is giving them the right things for supper. And I always put them to bed and hear their prayers. Come along, Greg. Dicky and Dots are adorable when they're saying their prayers. They're worth seeing."

"Just now Uncle Greg would rather see a good Glenn meal," he assured her.

"C'mon, Pete?" Nancy asked. He laughed. "I can see our brats any day. I'll see you later."

So Nancy went away by herself, cool, aloof, carrying it off with her air of calm detachment. Neither Pete nor Greg noticed. They were both intent on Pam's plans for Beach Cottage.

Nancy didn't come back. Sister Peggy blew in at eight with a pair of Yale juniors in her wake. She was a flashing little gamin

Concert Violinist, Here Nov. 1, Began Studies When Three

Benno Rabinov, American violinist who will present a concert here Nov. 1, began his violin studies when he was three years old, encouraged by his mother who made great sacrifices to aid him in his work.

Born on Manhattan's lower east side, he was a typical American boy with a liking for baseball, football, roller and ice skating and swimming. Below, he was 12, the young student was heard and accepted as a pupil by Leopold Auer, greatest of all violin teachers, who has trained Elman and Heifitz. Auer, broke a precedent of his with his students by conducting the orchestra at Rabinov's debut.

The violinist's solo engagements with leading orchestras bespeak the high artistic prestige he enjoys here and abroad. He has played over 30 major works with the foremost musical organizations in America and is heard in a weekly program, "Music for an Hour" on Sundays over a national network.

Rabinov uses one of the most valuable violins in the world, the famous Del Gesu Guarnerius made in 1742 as one of three "sister" violins, rich in tone and beautiful in workmanship. The first of the three is in a Genova, Italy museum, the second is the instrument Jascha Heifitz uses in preference to the many others he owns. The third, Rabinov's favorite violin, was once Fritz Kreisler's used to make the recordings which are so highly prized by collectors.

Sylvia Smith, brilliant concert pianist, who became the violinist's accompanist for the program here, was a new week ago, will be his accompanist for the program here, sponsored by the Lions club.

Mounties Have Hard Job 'Selling' Eskimos Taxes

OTTAWA, Oct. 15 — Income taxes have come at last to the Eskimos, who once insisted they didn't want to "buy" any.

Inspector D. J. Martin of the Royal Canadian mounted police said today that good for catcher and attractive prices have brought prosperity to the hunters of the lone lands.

This prosperity caused the Eskimos to be introduced to taxation. When the mounted police began explaining the taxes to the Eskimos, however, they were informed politely that the natives weren't interested in "buying" any.

Eventual understanding followed profuse explanations but the aborigines still fall on the shoulders of the Mounties, who must complete the Eskimo's income tax forms and make the assessments.

LEETONIA DRIVE TO OPEN MONDAY

LEETONIA, Oct. 15 — Edward C. Greenamyer, local chairman of the National War Fund drive, announces the opening of the campaign on Monday. Mr. Greenamyer has appointed Ralph Kennedy, co-chairman.

The Thursday Reading club opened its series of meetings at the home of Mrs. L. E. Fisher. Mrs. Nellie Conrad, the president, extended greetings to the members and guests. Mrs. Merle Davis favored with piano selections. Mrs. Ethel Peterson read a history of the public library from its beginning. Mrs. William C. Snowball gave vocal solos with Mrs. Davis as accompanist.

Mrs. Herold Conrad, a guest of the president, extended greetings on behalf of the Women's club of Tiffin. Bell call was made to "Why I enjoy our club." Refreshments were served.

SAYS COAL OUTPUT GAINS THIS YEAR
National Association Official Says War-time Demands Can Be Met

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 15. — Despite two strikes, manpower depletion and absenteeism, the coal industry is ahead of last year's output and can meet the nation's wartime demands, National Coal association officials maintained today.

Executive Secretary J. D. Battle told the Association's convention the present total of 1943 production exceeded by 8,000,000 tons the output for the same period last year and would surpass the 580,000,000 for all of 1942. The government has set 1943 needs at 600,000,000 tons, Battle said.

The increase was attained despite two strikes and the loss of 70,000 men to Selective Service, Battle asserted, adding that mines could meet demands of industrial and domestic consumers as well as export shipments.

No Shortage Seen
The coal industry does not see any general shortage of coal at this time. If our men will continue to work, and if we can get absenteeism cut to normal rate, we are in a position to produce more coal," Battle said.

Discussing potential production, C. C. Dickinson of Charleston, W. Va., association president, told the convention that output could be increased to "more than the most extravagant estimate of our country's needs" if absenteeism could be cut back to normal and if the industry could "obtain essential machinery, repair parts and operating supplies in adequate amounts and without delays."

He said coal industry statistics showed absenteeism averaged about 15 per cent with productive men averaging approximately 20 per cent. If this figure were reduced to eight per cent, sufficient manpower would be available for an extra million tons a week and well over 650,000,000 tons for the year, Dickinson added.

U. S. Senators Albert W. Hawkins (RNJ) told a night session that coal operators must work out their own problems in order to help prevent the system of American free enterprise.

the wholesale price, the speaker explained.

Throughout the empire men under 35 years of age, regardless of position, station or training are going into the armed services, Tanner added.

The Australian ration system, Pickles said, is similar to the one in operation here and Australia is in much the same position as this country in the lack of certain commodities and articles.

The program was in charge of L. H. Colley.

Dr. George Jones and A. P. Morris will attend a district war-time conference of Kiwanis clubs at Columbus Oct. 19-21.

COURT REVERSES
DISBARMENT ORDER

AKRON, Oct. 14.—The ninth district court of appeals has reversed a common pleas court decision which had disbanded Frank B. Burch, 69-year-old Akron attorney.

The court found Burch "not guilty of misconduct and unprofessional conduct in office involving moral turpitude" as charged by three members of the county bar association when he was removed from practice last Dec. 17.

Burch said of the reversal: "I have always tried to be a good citizen. At the time I was active a poll showed 86 per cent of the nation did not want to go to war."

A former state senator and Republican state central committee man, he was fined $1,000 and given a suspended sentence of eight to 24 months after he pleaded guilty in Washington federal district court Oct. 14, 1941, to a charge of failing to register with the state department as an agent of the German government.

The government accused him of accepting $10,000 from a former German consul for circulating anti-war pamphlets.

on the Crimea, across the two-mile-wide Kerch strait.

There was no indication, however, that the German 17th army was preparing to withdraw from its precarious position in the Crimea. The threat to the Crimea was not the only disaster facing the battered German armies. Far to the north, a Russian communiqué said, Red army tank corps have forced a new breach in the German lines above embattled Kiev and have smashed three Nazi divisions on the west bank of the Dnieper in fighting on both flanks of the Ukrainian capital.

Gomel, another German defense base on the edge of lower white Russia, also faced imminent capture by Soviet forces. Red army spearheads were closing in on the Soz river stronghold from the north and south. Nazi incendiary squads were said to be methodically destroying installations in both Kiev and Gomel.

The mounting toll of German dead was increased by nearly 10,000 in yesterday's major engagements, the Russians said. They reported the Nazis lost 3,000 men in the battle of Zaporozhe and another 3,000 in the inferno surrounding Kiev. At least 2,000 Nazi corpses were counted in the streets of Melitopol, while at the gates of Gomel 1,500 fell to Soviet vanguards.

that for the second time in as many days, more than 100 bombers and fighters swarmed over Bougainville in the northern Solomons the day prior to Rabaul's blitz.

While spreading fires around the big

Kamiri airfield and sinking two large enemy cargo ships in Buka passage

these raiders downed 12 out of 25

Japanese interceptors without loss.

On Sunday, it was reported previously, 21 Japanese planes were shot down in the same sector, with three American losses.

As more reports trickled in on the big Rabaul raid, it became increasingly evident how amazingly completely was the surprise. Anti-aircraft defenses there have been so stout in the past that Rabaul has become known as the "Japanese Malta." But Tuesday the 1,000 raiding fliers encountered only spotty ack ack. Many Japanese gunners fled their positions.

Three four-engined Liberators—a

Mitchell medium bomber and a Beaufighter were lost out of the hundreds of planes involved in the 350-ton bombing assault.

Bad weather hampered other air operations reported in today's communiqué.

A few Japanese planes on Tuesday and Wednesday attacked

Finschhafen and Morobe, New

Guinea, but the communiqué said the raids were harmless.

UMBRIANA Oct. 15.—Community War Chest will open Monday and will be closed through Oct. 22, with B. Miller as chairman. The for the town is $4,250. Committees are combined the local Girl Scouts, Boy Salem City hospital and San Clinic. The campaign will be divided into three fronts, namely military front, United Nations and the home front. The military and United Nations front will be presented by the USO and the front will be represented by community welfare agencies. Committees and caps who conducted the last recent bond drive will be in charge of campaign and will act each in the same organization. There will be only one drive each except for the annual Red Drive which will be carried out as usual. Final plans were made at a meeting last night. Members of the Music club attended the northeast meeting held at the Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown, yesterday. Mrs. Charles Eschwein, the local president of Great Lakes training stations is spending one-day leave with his wife and local relatives.

Methodist Speaker

Dr. A. L. Cox, of Akron, executive secretary of the board of education of the Northeast Ohio conference of the Methodist church, will be at a local Methodist church Oct. 17, in a clinical study of the educational program of the church. Dr. Cox will preach Sunday morning and lead a discussion on Christian education Sunday evening. Monday will be set aside for Children's work, Tuesday for Youth Work and Wednesday for Adult work. A coverdinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday for all adults of the church.

Wednesday evening the service men's correspondence committee of the Methodist church mailed 24 letters to servicemen and women overseas. This group is headed by Mrs. William Johns. The group writes 65 letters every two weeks to men and women from the local church who are in the armed forces.

WINONA

Home and school circle met at the brick school house recently and enjoyed the following program, in charge of Mrs. Donald Ward:

Reading, Betty Shepard; saxophone solo, James Rhodes; school paper, Helen Arbinits; clarinet solo, Helen Arbinits; song, fifth and sixth grade girls; recitation, Raymond Ward; primary school paper, Mrs. Althouse; songs by upper grades; contest, alphabet.

The result of the election was:

President, Albert Althouse; vice president, Mrs. Donald Dusenberry; secretary, Mrs. Albert Althouse; treasurer, Mrs. Lloyd Hardgrove.

Visits Son's Family

Mrs. Emily Satterthwaite is visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Satterthwaite and family near West Chester, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parks and daughter Joan of Cleveland were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Bowers. Sunday afternoon callers in the Bowers home were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bowers of Hanoverton and Miss Margaret Bowers of Canfield.

The son born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Willis has been named Gil Alvin.

Plan Sunday Service

Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church will have charge of the morning worship service next Sunday. There will be a ladies choir and special music. Mrs. Claude Ruckman of East Liverpool will be guest speaker.

The observance of the 3rd anniversary of the signing of the charter will be part of the service.

As a closing feature of the ladies day there will be a service at 8 p. m. Sunday when the A. M. E. Zion church of Salem will present their program. The Junior choir will sing. Rev. Patrick, the pastor, will preach.

Walter Black and daughter, Hazel, spent Sunday at Mill Creek park where they enjoyed a picnic with friends.

Women Solons Win Honors In Spelling Contest In Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The congresswomen can outspell the congressmen.

Four of them carried off the honors last night in an old fashioned spelling bee conducted by Professor (Speaker) Rayburn at the National Press Club.

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn), whose forte is taxes, was bumped off on "satellite" and so was Rep. Mason (R-III) before Rep. Clare Luce (R-Conn), first of the women to fall, slipped on "supersede." The author-playwright insisted there was a "C" in it, and the men put two "T's" in.

Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) missed "acquiesce" (leaving out the "S") and Rep. Case (R-SD) muffed "colossal" putting two "L's" in the middle. Rep. Jessie Summer (R-III) and Margaret Smith (R-Me) breezed through such tough ones as "ichthyology" but then both fell down at "Albuquerque." They got the idea it was "Alber—." Rep. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) spelled "postscript" without an "S."

The players kept in the game after missing and, as well as could be figured out, the final count was 9 mistakes for the men and 8 for the women.

FAIRFIELD

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Pvt. Raymond M. Cole and Miss Vivian Heron of Mineral Ridge in a Methodist church in Washington, D. C., Saturday, Oct. 2, with the Rev. Chauncey C. Day, officiating. The bride wore a powder blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Cole is a graduate of Girard High school and was employed at the Ravenna arsenal. Mr. Cole, a college graduate, was coach at Fairfield High school before entering the service. He and his bride will reside in Washington for the present.

'BIG THREE' PARLEY MAY OPEN SHORTLY

LONDON, Oct. 5.—It is expected here that the Moscow "big-three" conference will open within the next few days.

Previous forecasts have been that U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would open sessions with Soviet leaders by mid-October but transportation difficulties may delay the meetings a few days.

One of the main causes of irritation between the Soviet Union, the United States and Great Britain appeared to have been removed with Moscow's acceptance of Marshal Badoglio's Italian government.

The joint declaration of the three nations accepting Italy as a co-belligerant, recognizing the royal Italian government and accepting its cooperation against Germany was greeted here as a welcome clarification of inter-Allied relations.

heads east of Capua. The enemy was said to be resisting bitterly near Capua and also near Caizzi, in the corner formed by the northward sweep of the Volturno. Violent German counterattacks with tanks were beaten off.

Advance Is General

British troops made up the amphibious force that landed on the Volturno. They went ashore in the early morning hours of Wednesday, a naval commando said.

A constant stream of troops, guns and supplies was pouring northward into the Volturno battle area and across the stream into the Allied bridgeheads.

Steady progress was announced elsewhere in the Eighth army zone in addition to the capture of Casacalenda.

It was announced here that the British troops which swept into Casacalenda had advanced six miles to take the town.

In attacking the Argos airfield, in Greece, the medium bombers maintained the air assaults into the Balkans which have increased since captured Italian fields have been put to use.

In the Pescara area, where Liberators attacked railways along the Adriatic coast between Pescara and Giulianova to the north, fighter-bombers destroyed three enemy planes, an air communiqué said.

In other widely-scattered air attacks, light bombers attacked rail junctions and highways near Formia and motor and railway communications in other areas.

In a broadcast, radio France said the Germans were reported to have ordered evacuation of civilians from the entire western coast of Italy north of Ostia in anticipation of possible further Allied landings.

Ostia is at the mouth of the Tiber about 10 miles southwest of Rome.

Flynn Gets Court Order

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Actor Errol Flynn will appear in superior court next Friday on an order to show cause why he should not pay $1,750 a month support for the two-year-old daughter of Shirley Evans Hassau, pending trial of the mother's civil action in which she alleges he is the father.

Flynn has denied Mrs. Hassau's allegation.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

ian people shall be free to choose whatever form of democratic government they want. This means that the old form of government won't be imposed on the Italian people against their will and that the Big Three will keep hands off when Italy is ready to make its choice. That's mighty important for Russia and the Anglo-American allies have been fearful of each other's possible political activities among the European nations.

F THE MILITARY situation does come up for first consideration it will put a somewhat peculiar complexion on the conference since the business of foreign ministers obviously isn't military affairs. Still, they have had to consider the broad issues of war times in their own cabinets, and with advice from their respective capitals could deal with the broad principles of the war effort.

Perhaps it would be best if the second front and the military effort should come up again, as the Soviet desires. It strikes me that this probably is the most important problem of the moment and that once this is solved it will be possible to iron out other differences. In short, post-war relations among the Big Three are likely to hang on the present decision about military cooperation.

The representatives of the Big Three are setting out to forge a hinge upon which peace will swing.

F.D.R. VACATIONS AT MOUNTAIN SPOTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—In the rolling Catoctin mountains of western Maryland, President Roosevelt has found the seclusion where, on several occasions, he has been able to relax for a day or two from time burdens.

The spot is a government reservation of perhaps several hundred acres which is called the Catoctin recreational area. It's administered by the Interior department, but neither the department nor the White House will supply details about the presidential camp.

For security reasons, it never has been announced when Mr. Roosevelt went there or when he returned. But it is known that there is an old manor house and the site of an old iron furnace in the region, plus a swimming pool where the President can enjoy one of his favorite sports. And the fishing is good in the mountain streams in the vicinity.

PENICILIN EMERGES AS SYPHILIS CURE

Success In Treating Early Cases Reported by Medical Officials

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor. NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The first reported use of Penicillin to treat cases of early syphilis was announced to the American Public Health Association today.

The treatment of four cases was for eight days. After four months the Wasserman and six other tests for syphilis are completely negative on three of the men, and the fourth has a doubtful reaction which may not mean the presence of syphilis.

The Penicillin treatment was completely harmless to the men. Arsenic, the standard syphilis treatment, may make patients sick and when given in the new five-day treatment has caused a number of deaths.

The report was made by John F. Mahoney, M. D., R. C. Arnold, M. D., and Ad Harris, of the venerable disease research laboratory, U. S. Marine Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y.

Experiment on Rabbits. Dr. Mahoney said the Penicillin was first tried on syphilis in rabbits. It apparently cured them. But a year must elapse before certainty in these animal tests. So as a human pilot experiment to guide the animal experiments, four men were selected for Penicillin, given intramuscularly, and with no other syphilis treatment.

The spirochetes, the germs which cause syphilis, disappeared within eight hours from the syphilitic lesions. The men's blood remained syphilis positive for a few weeks.

Dr. Mahoney said four cases are too few for saying what Penicillin will do. Prolonged observation of a large group of patients will be necessary.

The doctors want something which will cure syphilis in the chronic stage. This is the most difficult of all syphilis cures, including those by arsenic.

In those stages the syphilitic germs get into organs not originally involved. Finally they go to the brain. Penicillin will be tried for all stages.

Only four cases were used in the pilot experiment because of shortage of Penicillin. Even so, Dr. Mahoney used some of the Penicillin over again, by recovering it from the urine of patients and animals.

Grows New Beans

BROWNSWOOD, Tex. — Brown County Judge A. E. Nabors has grown super beans, two of which make a meal for one person. The beans, stringless and tender, measured 24 inches in length. Mrs. Nabors has canned six quarts, which, the judge said, wasn't many beans. He got the seeds from Tennessee.

Judson King of Lisbon Heads Knights Templar

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14—New grand commander of the Knights Templar of Ohio is Judson C. King of Lisbon, elected yesterday at the Grand commander's 10th regular conclave.

Promoted in order of succession from deputy grand commander, King succeeds Lachlan M. MacDonald of Bryan.

Earl C. Kruger of Sandusky, past commander of Erie commandery Number 23, was named grand warden.

Other promotions included Thomas E. Gibson of Athens, grand warden to grand sword bearer.

Before the war, oil tankers docked at Eastern ports at an average rate of 18 a day, with an average capacity per tanker equal to 380 railway tank cars.

In Sumner county, Tennessee the million-dollar strawberry crop was saved by 2,000 local pickers, augmented by 3,000 volunteers from seven nearby counties.

Salem Hopes To Avenge Last Year's Defeat At Wellsville.

QUAKER TILT JUST ONE OF MANY IN DISTRICT SLATE

Alliance Faces Massillon; Struthers, Here Next Week, Meets Hubbard

When the undefeated and untied Salem Quakers take their second trip of the season to meet Wellsville on the latter's Nicholson Field tonight, the rest of the district's high school squads will be squaring off for battles on their own.

The Quakers go to Wellsville with two main objectives firmly in mind. One is to keep their perfect record in good shape, and the other is to avenge the 26 to 6 defeat handed them on Reilly Field last year by the Bengal crew.

Wellsville holds a distinct weight advantage in the game tonight, but the Quakers are planning to overcome that with their speed and aerial attack. Salem holds a slight edge over the Bengals in spite of the 15 pound disadvantage they will encounter.

Alliance At Massillon

Alliance, defeated once in four games, takes on another mighty potent foe as they visit the stadium in Massillon. The Tigers are unbeaten, as usual, and are picked to take the Aviators by about 21 points.

The East Liverpool Potters play at home this week, entertaining a light but scrappy squad from Midland, Pa. Midland last year pulled a surprise on the Potters and spelled them 7 to 0. Although Liverpool is picked to win, Midland usually is on edge for this particular battle.

Struthers entertains again this week as Hubbard, fresh from an impressive 53 to 0 win over Newton Falls, comes to the steel city to battle the "Big Red." Struthers is winner in one of four battles this season but is rated about even with the Hubbard eleven. The game should give some indication as to the power of the "Big Red," who are scheduled to meet the Quakers here next Friday night.

In the only other district Friday night game, East Palestine meets Newell, W. Va. at Palestine. Newell was beaten 33 to 0 in its first game of the season by East Liverpool but since then have shown considerable improvement. East Palestine is seeking the third win in five games.

Leetonia Picked Over Columbias

Saturday afternoon sees the powerful Leetonia team that played at Stelly stadium last week go into action against the Columbias Clippers at Leetonia. Coach McBride will be using Lawrence Duso, brother of Ed Duso, who was injured in the Salem game, at left half.

Leetonia should have little difficulty in taking the Clippers as Salem knocked them off rather easily in a practice game earlier this year. From the example set by Leetonia against the Quakers, McBride's favored to take the Clippers by two or three touchdowns.

Lisbon, still looking for its first victory, will face Sebring, also seeking an initial win, at Lisbon tomorrow in what should be a close ball game. Sebring has been beaten four times this season and so have the Blue Devils. Sebring is picked to win the game but it will be a close one.

THREE INTER-STATE GAMES SCHEDULED

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 15—Outside of Ohio State's tussle with Purdue at Cleveland, greatest interest in the Buckeye State's collegiate football card Saturday centers around Bowling Green's scrap with the Bunker Hill air base of Indiana.

The high-flying Falcons, statewide leaders with four straight wins, were slated to meet Wayne at Detroit, but the game was washed out and the Bunker Hill crew substituted. The Bee-Gees should stay up at the peak, for Bunker Hill had a tough time defeating Patterson Field 9-6 in the latter team's opener, while Bowling Green beat the Pattersons 31 to 9.

The Bowling Green-Bunker Hill fracas gives Ohio three inter-state frays this week, along with Ohio-Purdue and West Virginia Tech's invasion of Westerville for a tilt with unbeaten Oberlein. Bowling Green and Oberlein are the state's only unbeaten and untied teams, the latter having triumphed 25 to 6 over little Rio Grande the week before the Gallia county team ended its 35-game losing streak at the expense of Muskingum, 7 to 6.

Other games on Saturday's card send Oberlein to Ohio Wesleyan for a battle of naval units. Case against Wooster in an Ohio conference contest, and Rio Grande against Muskingum at New Concord in their second encounter of the season.

ROBERTSON PICKS ARMY, NOTRE DAME AND BOILERMAKERS

Football Prognosticator Selects Other Probable Winners In Nation

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—Having changed the tune last week with 28 wins, five defeats and one tie for a season's standing of 92 victories, 21 setbacks and three ties we plunge into this week's football selections with the feeling that it is about time for the roof to fall in. (Visiting teams first).

Army-Columbia—Coach Earl Blaik says the Cadets haven't been tested. They'll not be tested tomorrow either.

Penn State-Navy—The Nittany Lions haven't shown anything that would indicate they can stop this great Navy eleven.

Notre Dame—Wisconsin—The Irish to ramble on un molested.

Purdue-Ohio State—The Buckeyes showed improvement in losing to Great Lakes by one touchdown last week but in the Boilermakers they're tangling with a team that beat the Sailors 23-13. Purdue to remain undefeated.

Picks Northwestern—Great Lakes-Northwestern—Time to take out the well-worn penny. Heads—Northwestern; Tails—Great Lakes, It's heads.

North Carolina-Duke—The Blue Devils.

Texas Christian-Texas Aggies—The Aggies.

Southern Methodist-Rice—Southern Methodist.

Camp Grant-Minnesota—The Gophers to continue their surprise showing.

Ft. Benning—Georgia Tech—Georgia Tech.

Georgia-Daniel Field—Georgia.

California—C. L. A.—A quick guess—California.

Holy Cross-Cornell—Cornell to crack Holy Cross.

Pittsburgh—Illinois—The Illini woke up against Wisconsin last week. On the premise they're still awake—Illinois.

Indiana-Iowa—Indiana because of superior scoring power.

Southern Calif.—San Francisco—Don't stop—Southern Calif.

Arkansas-Texas—No argument, Texas.

Iowa—Pre-flight-Missouri—The Tigers haven't got what it takes.

And here we go over the chalk lines: Temple over Ursinus (Friday); Villanova over Bucknell.

Fullback Don Wile of Salem made 13 touchdowns and ten extra points.

Army meets Columbia in New York. If figures don't lie the only thing in doubt about the game is how many points Army chooses to score. Ditto for unbeaten Penn.

Fullback Don Wile of Salem made 13 touchdowns and ten extra points.

Michigan and Dartmouth, in addition to many other teams, are idle this week because of examinations for their Navy and Marine trainees.

The Salem Junior Saxon girls will be hosts to girls of other Junior Saxon branches in Transylvanian Saxon Junior association bowling tournament tomorrow and Sunday at the Salem bowling center.

Hal Dewey, who played with the Cleveland Barons and Pittsburgh Hornets in the American hockey league, has enlisted for training with the RCAF. It was learned today.

Five teams of girls from Columbus, Canton, Cleveland East, New Castle, Pa., and Salem will participate.

A five-man event will be rolled Saturday night at 9, with doubles and singles events scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

The tournament will be climaxed by a banquet Sunday evening at the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

High School Football Coach Ben Barrett will be the principal speaker. Joe Kelley will act as toastmaster.

Navy bound are Bill Osmanski, the one-time Holy Cross terror and Bears' fullback, and End Johnny Siegal, both at lieutenants, (j.g.).

Osmanski will go to Great Lakes and may be invited to play—although no officers are on the team.

Siegel will report to Bainbridge (Md.) naval training station, where the coach of the Navy squad is Joe Maniaci, also a former Bear.

The National League batting race in 1931 was a humdinger. The finish: Chick Hafey, Cards, 3489; Bill Terry, Giants, 3486, and Jim Bottomley, Cards, 3482.

Miller Huggins, playing for the Cardinals in 1919, played a game without being charged with a time at bat. He drew four walks and made two sacrifices.

41 FROM OHIO ON GRIPSHOLM

Columbus Newspaperman
Among Those Now Enroute From Japan

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Forty-one Ohioans, including Ray P. Cronin, former chief of the Columbus bureau of The Associated Press, are among the 1,236 Americans repatriates from the Far East aboard the Japanese exchange liner Tsushima Maru enroute to Marmugao, Portuguese India, the State department announced.

Cronin was chief of The Associated Press bureau in Manila at the time of his capture by the Japanese.

Seven nuns from Reading, O., were named in the list.

The list was announced after final word from the Swiss government which served as intermediary in the second exchange of nationals with Japan.

The American repatriates will take passage at Marmugao on the Swedish liner, Gripsholm, for this country, after exchange for an equivalent number of Japanese nationals who left this country on the Gripsholm Sept. 2.

Ohio State's Army Specialized Training Program Is Largest In the United States

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 15.—Ohio State university is training the largest Army specialized training program unit in the country, it was disclosed officially today by Col. W. G. Johnston, chief of the ASTP branch of the Fifth Service command headquarters here.

With 2,696 ASTP students studying, drilling and marching to and from classes, in many respects the university today resembles a mid-western West Point. Even the dormitories house soldiers.

Ohio State's enrollment this fall is 9,805, including 2,038 army trainees in various fields, 658 soldier-students in medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine, and 150 navy trainees. The balance are civilians—sprinkled liberally with varying numbers of Army enrollees in the campus' selection, training and reclassification (star) program, which varies from week to week and which today is 300.

Of the civilians, only a bare minority are males—the greater part either under or over military age.

Soldiers selected for ASTP training have undergone basic training.

Selected by competitive examination, they must make a grade of at least 115 in the army general classification test—five points higher than formerly demanded of candidates for officers training school.

Unless the applicant has had training or experience to fit him for advanced work under the ASTP, he must be under 22 years of age. He then is sent to an army field board, which may either accept or reject him.

If accepted, he is placed in a star unit and assigned to a school where the proper training course for him is determined. He may remain in a star unit up to three weeks, before being sent to one of the nation's 209 ASTP units.

No Loafing On Job

There's no chance to "soldier" while in this school. A student may be "washed out" at any time his average falls below 1.8, slightly under a "C" mark. The maximum time he may spend in school is 18 months. He may be called to active duty at any time.

While classroom work is the first demand, the Army places emphasis on keeping trainees fit. Each receives six hours of physical training weekly, plus five hours of military drill. Army tests show an average improvement of 21 per cent in physical efficiency among soldiers in their first ASTP training term.

Col. Johnston said 19 universities and colleges in the Fifth Service command give ASTP training.

The object of the ASTP course is to give able men intensive instruction qualifying them for technical and specialist jobs in the Army. There the Army's interest ends. Winning the war comes first, but if the trainees can use some of their knowledge in post-war peace time, that's fine. But right now that's of no moment.

The ASTP is no liberal arts course.

By the end of 1943, production of fighting equipment in the United States will be ten times that of 1940.
